CONDITIONS OF SALE

The following conditions are acknowledged by all persons participating in the auction, whether bidding in the room on their own account or executing commissions for others or submitting bids by post or fax.

Estimates are in Pounds sterling and opening bids will be about 80% of estimate, unless there are higher offers. The purchase price together with a commission of 11.75% (inclusive of VAT in the EU) and sending charges where applicable is payable in British currency. The total price is due after the final bid and payable on delivery. Late payment of the invoice will incur interest at bank rate. Adjudication ensues after the highest bid and commits the bidder to accept the coins. Written bids have preference over room bids. The buyer cannot claim to act on behalf of a third person.

Authenticity of the coins is unconditionally guaranteed, without time limit. All identifications of the lots sold in this catalogue are statements of opinion and made in good faith.

Dispatching of purchases is normally registered and insured. The purchaser is responsible for any dues or taxes outside Great Britain and is advised to acquaint himself with the formalities. The auctioneer cannot be held responsible for contraventions.

The auctioneer may change the sequence of the catalogue or unite lots; lots however cannot be divided. When, in error, text and plate numbers are mismatched, the text takes precedence. The auction is held in London and any legal questions arising shall be there determined.

Berenice II was granddaughter of Antiochus I and wife of Ptolemy III. Upon his death in 222 she became joint ruler of Egypt with her brother Ptolemy IV, who murdered and deified her in 221. When, after a long siege, Antiochus III captured and destroyed Sardes, the city was rebuilt along hellenistic lines and may well have been identified with Berenice, a distant but important dynastic relative, similar to the identification of Ephesus with Arsinoë II, then wife of Lysimachus, in its becoming Arsinoëia.

Anglo-Saxon coin brooches

- 1188 Late Anglo-Saxon short cross pewter brooch, 20m.m.. Ornamental meaningless legend around short cross. First published in Reign of Cnut (cited above), p.239, 12.2d. Extremely rare, very interesting and in an excellent state of preservation. £400

This and the following Anglo-Saxon 'coin' brooches were all found on the same site as the Cnut die (Thames Exchange) or in spoil removed from the site. See publications cited above.

- 1189 Period of Offa, 757-96. Anglo-Saxon yellow bronze brooch, 21m.m.. Pseudo-Arabic inscription. Very reminiscent of the famous Offa gold dinar (S.902) which copies the coins of the Abbasid Caliph Al-Mansur (prototype c.774). Unpublished and of the highest rarity, very interesting and in an excellent state of preservation. £650

The Offa dinar is described in references as unique, but there are reported to be two in a private collection in the Gulf, and there have been reports of two others, one in the North of England, and the second, recently identified, in a North Italian museum. It is certainly understandable that the population would have been familiar with Arabic coins in the 11th century as the flood of coins that reached the Baltic in the 10th century would later have been available for copying as jewellery by Danish invaders. This early 'Arabic' Anglo-Saxon coin brooch would seem to be important evidence for monetary circulation in this period, as the commercial manufacture of these brooches would suggest that there may have been more Eastern coins available in England than has hitherto been thought.

- 1190 Anglo-Saxon pewter brooch, 20m.m., design possibly reminiscent of some earlier Celtic issues. Extremely rare, very interesting and in excellent condition £250
- 1191 Another, 19m.m.. Three circles enclosing central design of four globules in the form of a cross. Very rare, interesting and in good condition £100

Said to have been found in a Norman stratum.

- 1192 Another, 19 m.m.. Double circle border around cross with stars in each quarter. Reminiscent of some continental issues. Extremely rare, very interesting and in excellent condition. £350
- 1193 Another, 35m.m.. 10th century. Four beaded outer circles, garbled four line inscription. Reminiscent of early coins of Mercia under Offa (see S.904/7). A broken example in BMC (Anglo-Saxon Ornamental Metalware, 1964), p.147, 39 (found in 1846). Extremely rare, very interesting and in an excellent state of preservation. £250

There are other 'coin' type brooches on exhibition at the BM (Louis the Pious, Charlemagne) in room 41. See also English Romanesque Art p.341, 468, and in the Museum of London (Henry I).

- 1200 Lead customs token, as Stephen Double Inscription type, c. N. 867. 1.31 g. Extremely rare and interesting, F £100

This example was found on the same site as the Canute die, along with a number of other lead 'coins' of William I and other kings. They have been published by M. Archibald and have been shown to have had some Customs or fiscal purpose.

Stephen and the Anarchy, Baronial issue of Duke Henry of Normandy

- 1201 Penny. [HENRIC] V (S REX), (Crowned) bust facing, star l.(?) and r. Rev. [NI] V [O] V [NIN OHIN], cross botonée over quadrilateral pommée. S. 1330. N. 941 and pl. 15, 13-14. See also Spink sale 45, June 1985, 120, described as "legends mostly flat but an excellent portrait and the only coin of this type available to commerce" (realised £15'500). Extremely rare, largely flat, otherwise what is visible is about F £1,000

As only three letters are visible the attribution must be considered as uncertain. The three letters, all V's (obverse 5 o'clock), coincide exactly (5 o'clock) with the V on the example illustrated by North, pl. 14, 14, and the reverse V's coincide, 7 and 8 o'clock, with the reverse of the second specimen illustrated, pl. 15, 13. Also the flatness and general miserable state of the flan is more reminiscent of the later Henry I and Baronial issues than that of a worn coin of the Two startype of William I (PILLEM REX) which also does not have a V in the legend. Found on the same site as the Canute die. See Publications cited above. Apart from the Spink coin, the other two examples are in the British Museum and Royal Coin Cabinet, Copenhagen respectively.
